We understand that no less than 78 prisoners were released from Victoria Gaol this morning by His Excellency the Governor's orders. Many of these were long-sentence men who it is alleged had not yet completed two-thirds, and it is even said one half, of their respective terms of sentence. We may hear of them again, but are not anxious to do so.

The following notification appears in the Government Gazette of to-day with reference to the firing of crackers and bombs on the approaching Chinese New Year:—

Notice is hereby given that in view of the approaching Chinese New Year, the Superintendent of Police has been authorized to give permission, under Ordinance 10 of 1872, for Crackers to be fired under the following restrictions:—

In the Districts West of the Cross Roads and of Shing-wong Street the firing of Crackers will be permitted from 4 P.M. on the 21st until 4 P.M. on the 23rd January.

In the Districts East of the Cross Roads and of Shing-wong Street, Crackers may be fired only between the hours of 4 P.M. of the 21st and 9 P.M. of the 22nd January.

The Police will have strict orders to summon or arrest persons firing Crackers in contravention of the foregoing restrictions. But whilst allowing them the same liberty as heretofore, His Excellency the Governor desires the Chinese public to take special precautions on this occasion, as the unusual dryness of the weather increases the danger of a conflagration arising in case of careless handling of Crackers.

INQUEST.

ALLEGED BREACH OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

An inquest was held this afternoon on the body of a Chinaman, a seaman of the Kum-chu-fai junk, belonging to Chinchew, before the Coroner (C. V. Cragg, Esquire) with the following gentlemen as a Jury: Messrs. G. Holmes, W. Ross and C. Denke. The body, which was in a very advanced stage of decomposition having been hastily placed at:

Choi Aeng, the junk-master, was examined. He said:—I produce my clearance. On the 15th day of the 12th month (Jan. 7th) we were off Pookin-tow, near Mira Bay, about 20 or 30 li from Foo-tow-chau. Between 8 or 9 o'clock I saw a junk, two Hakka boats and a white steamer. The white steamer did nothing, but the two Hakka boats fired into us and made a great noise. We did not stop, as we thought they were pirates. The deceased got shot through the stomach, the shot passing right through the body. Two other men were wounded, one being shot through the wrist and the other through the body.

The Coroner said, addressing the Jury:—If you are satisfied that she was out of the jurisdiction of the Colony, the junk not being a Hongkong junk, we will proceed no further with the enquiry.

The Jury appearing inclined to proceed, the witness's examination was continued. He said:—After leaving Hongkong we sailed eastwards for two days; we had a fair wind. Corrected; Sometimes we had a fair wind and sometimes a foul wind.

Lam-Man-Hok, one of the seamen, declared stated:—We were at Mok-Moon when the occurrence took place. Mok-Moon is beyond Mira Bay. Mok-Moon is a group of islands. The place where the shots were fired was 20 li from the light-house.

Chow Lo-sing, another of the crew, said he was a clerk on board; the junk was 50 li from Hongkong when attacked.

The Coroner remarked that there was an Act which empowered a Coroner's Jury to hold an inquest wherever the body was found, but that Act had not been extended to this Colony. He thought the Junk was clearly out of the jurisdiction. The Jury concurred, but the foreman (Mr. G. Holmes) said that a remonstrance might be sent to the Chinese Authorities.

The Coroner said he should be happy to forward any remonstrance the jury might be pleased to make; but he did not think it was any use, as we could not interfere with the laws of a friendly power.

Mr. Holmes said that the junk had at least her clearance from this port.

The Coroner said that was very true, but we could not interfere on behalf of every vessel which left this port; had the junk been longed to Hongkong, it might have been a very different matter, but he even had his doubts as to our power to do any good even in that case; he had had the opinion of the Attorney General on this point.

The proceedings then terminated.

ANOTHER INQUEST was held on the body of a female child, about six months old, which had been picked up near the Italian Convent. A post mortem examination had been held by Dr. Wharry, who said that there were no distinct evidences of disease, but death appeared to have resulted from want of proper nourishment and want of care. The Jury returned a verdict in accordance with the evidence.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of the "CHINA MAIL."

January 4, 1879.

SIR,—While agreeing in some respects with the opinion expressed by your contemporary on the 14th instant in a leading article on the present state of China and the discontent which at present prevails in several of the provinces, I would venture in the columns of your paper to call attention to a serious error into which your contemporary has fallen.

In speaking of the rebel Li-Yung-choi your contemporary remarks:—"If he should at any time effect his escape from Kwangsi, in which province he appears to be at present shut up, owing chiefly to the nature of the country, he would undoubtedly gain numerous adherents in all the provinces of the Empire into which he might find his way." Now, it is a well-known fact that Li crossed the borders of Kwangsi and Annam at least two months ago; and it is also well known that not only has he not re-entered China but that he has already gained several victories over the forces of Annam, and may at present be said to be in possession of that kingdom. He has succeeded in conciliating the inhabitants of the different places through which he has passed, principally by the care which he has taken to maintain the most rigid discipline among his followers. Early on he saved Li from that collapse which usually attends rebellions in China, and it may safely be conjectured that we have not heard the last of him.

Yours, &c.

FOOCHOW.

(Herald, Jan. 2nd.)

From an advertisement published above, we notice that Messrs Silverlock & Co. have been appointed Agents at this port for the Chinese Insurance Company.

On the score of weather even the proverbial Englishman must refrain from indulging his taste for grumbling. During the past week the atmospheric conditions have left nothing to be desired, and life in the open air has been thoroughly enjoyable. A clear blue sky, a cool breeze, and just enough sunshine to temper the breeze during the day, followed by crisp, frosty, and still nights,—all contribute to sum up the perfection of climate. It is no exaggeration to say that the Fochow Christmas weather of 1878-79 could not be beaten in any part of the world. But, alas! like all mundane pleasures, it will pass away, and therefore we would urge all our readers to make the most of it while they can.

The "heaven" is improving, and the march of Western civilization quickening. Of this there cannot be a doubt. During the last few days a detachment of Chinese police, from the station on the "hill" popularly known as The Beggar's Opera, have been patrolling the Foreign Settlement with a congratulatory address in English, conveying the compliments of the season, and begging acceptance of a Fochow ham and a basket of oranges. The idea is to present the aforesaid luxuries, and—in accordance with Celestial etiquette—to receive in return a sum of money not short of five silver dollars. This is certainly one of the most ingenious modes of levying tribute that we have yet heard of, and of course reflects great credit on its clever originators.

From the Tartar Camp we learn that the Courser is excessively hard, and that quite a number of ponies including Vulcan, Wild Lark, and Reformer, are badly lamed. This state of affairs necessarily upsets last week's prophecies; so—allowing for further accidents—we will predict the following results:—

Hae-Kwan Cup:—Strathavon, Black Cloud, and Brutus.
Maiden Stakes:—Spinaway, Kaiser, and Earl Warwick.
Chaa-Sze Cup:—Earl Harold, Midlander, and Creedmore.
Hae-Kwan Cup:—Strathavon, Red Robin, and Etiole du Nord.
Bankers' Cup:—Spinaway, Kaiser, and The Quaker.
Flyaway Stakes:—Farewell, Black Cloud, and Brutus.
Kwai-Lam-Sze Cup:—Farewell, Sombro, and Brutus.
Hongkong Cup:—Strathavon, and Creedmore.
Subscription Challenge Cup:—Earl Harold, and Red Robin.
Tong-Kian-Chong Stakes:—Strathavon, and Creedmore.
Comrades' Cup:—Spinaway, Kaiser, and The Quaker.
Lottery Cup:—Midlander, and Black Cloud.
Ledger Cup:—Farewell, Brutus, and Etiole du Nord.
Fai Ma Cup:—Midlander, and Earl Harold.
Ladies' Purse:—Creedmore, Black Cloud, and Scud.
Consolation Stakes:—Brutus, Etiole du Nord, and Kaiser.
Champion Stakes:—Earl Harold, Strathavon, and Spinaway.
Grand National Stakes:—Black Cloud, and Blarney.

Several American missionaries have, we learn, just returned from extended tours in the interior of the province—having visited all the large cities within a hundred miles south and two hundred and thirty miles west of Fochow. They report the people quiet and friendly throughout, and the officials—so far as they came in contact with them—apparently well-disposed. This is more especially the case at Yung An, where the local magistrate showed much kindness, and informed them of his evident pleasure that he was the pupil of the Chinese minister to Great Britain. The large number of new dwellings and temples in process of erection indicates an increased degree of prosperity, and a few dikes which a year ago were supplied with rice from Fochow are now shipping to other parts.

They also found that news of the rebellion in Kwangsi had reached the most out of the way places, and occasionally noticed a desire to get later reports among the better classes. There is an increasing demand for everything in the line of general information and news. The last season—two hundred miles up the river—has for several months been infested with robbers, who congregated at favorable places in the mountains, and frequently, with armed force, surprised the unwary traveller. A catechist connected with the Methodist Mission, while on the way to his appointed field, was suddenly attacked by four armed men who hacked and thrust at him with their knives till he fell unconscious on the road, when they smashed his boxes and carried off his clothes and a small amount of money. He was soon afterwards found by a Tling-ho man, who procured a chair for him and sent him on, 20 miles distant, to the nearest magistrate. This official at once secured medical aid and comfortable quarters for him, in which the missionaries met him two weeks later. He had then sufficiently recovered to take up his appointment. The magistrate refunded all his losses in effects and money, besides giving him much personal attention during his stay in the Yamen. After an interesting as well as arduous journey thus far, the missionaries were glad to take passage on a boat which brought them to Fochow—nearly two hundred miles—in the remarkably short space of two days and a night.

NOTICES ON CHINA.

Women are supposed in China to carry with them certain bewitching properties, and men are particularly careful not to expose themselves to "witchery." We have seen a Hankow woman brutally knocked down because she had stopped across a log of wood which was being conveyed into a cellar. No Chinaman will allow his "pigtail" to be lightly touched by a woman; and, if married, he is particularly careful to stow his tail away so that it may not stray under his wife's pillow, or worse still, her person. Men's clothes and women's clothes are separately hung to dry, and men studiously avoid using any vessel or implement, such as basins, combs, &c., belonging to women. Of course, no man would allow a woman to put on his coat or his trousers, though in the shape of the latter there is often no difference whatever between male and female garments. In short, women are, in a wild sort of way, abominations. Of course the poorer classes must modify their fastidiousness; for when whole families pig away in a small camp, it must be difficult to keep a corner sacred from the dreaded straddle of a female. Nevertheless, the chiao is there, though the priests purify things affected by the objectionable contact of women by means of incantations.

As to oracles, there is still another way of consulting them,—with the tsai and tsai. According to Williams the operation is managed with the aid of stalks in both cases. We have not yet met with a Chinese who is able to explain exactly how it is done; and here, therefore, we must leave the matter.

TIEN-TSIN.

Dec. 19.

The river is still quite free from ice, and steamers could come up to the Bund with the greatest ease. The Chinese have said for a long time that it would not close this year before the 28th of the present month, which gives us still several days of grace, and, at writing, there are no special indications of closing.

Weather clear—not very cold.—N. C. D. News.

SOOCHOW.

Jan. 4th.

There has been some excitement about the failure of some of the smaller banks in this city. One bank recently borrowed of a Shanghai man Taels 50,000, and the two proprietors and the head manager have absconded. A smaller place, a cash-shop, where the officials make deposits, is also closed. At the head of the department for the sale of official buttons was Tung Taotai. He received Taels 6,000 for a button and deposited it here. He afterwards went and borrowed Taels 4,000 of this Imperial money, and then was afraid not to lend it. Since then Tung Taotai has died, and the Futai has come down on them for the Taels 6,000, sealing up the premises. Several other prominent places have been closed.—N. C. D. News.

The Straits.

(Singapore Daily Times).

A variety of rumours are current in town to-day with reference to the great fire in Hongkong. Chinese telegrams state that 50 houses have been burnt down. Another account says 300 houses. A third rumour is that the Post Office, Club House, Gaol, and 800 houses have been destroyed. A flat race of 100 yards between Mr. D. Browne, Contractor, and Mr. A. Frapp, Steward of Sailors' Home, came off about six o'clock this morning (Dec. 30th) on the Stamford Road. Mr. Browne, who had 50 yards' start and carried another man on his back, won by about 11 yards, time 9½ seconds. Another race of 101 yards, Mr. Browne getting 7 yards' start, carrying no weight, comes off to-morrow morning at the same hour and place, between the same two competitors.

THE CHINA Famine FUND.

The China Famine Relief Fund, which was opened in England last February as the result of a meeting held at Lambeth Palace, under the presidency of the Archbishop of Canterbury, has just been closed, and the committee, under the chairmanship of Sir Rutherford Alcock, have issued their report. It states that it was hoped at first that the famine would cease in June, but, unhappily, the severe and protracted drought, which was the original cause of the famine, continued until it was too late to save the early crop, and consequently the committee were unable to relax their efforts in collecting money until the second or late harvest was gathered in. Information having now been received from China that in the greater part of the distressed region the autumn crops are good, the committee have decided to close the fund. In doing so, however, they call attention to the fact that many of the survivors from the rebel families have been so much exhausted by their sufferings, and so much impoverished by the crisis through which they have passed, that there must necessarily be a very large amount of distress during the coming winter, and the committee therefore state that contributions for the relief of the sufferers can still be forwarded to China through any of the missionary societies having agents there. At present, the report says, it is not possible to give an account of the work which has been accomplished by means of the money entrusted to the committee by the liberality of the British public. The reports of the distributors will be presented in due course to the committee in Shanghai; but some time must necessarily elapse before they can reach England. The balance-sheet shows that the total amount raised in connection with this fund has been £32,303. A further sum of about £16,000 has been contributed through various missionary societies in England, and has been sent by the treasurers of those societies direct to China.

THE FAILURE OF WM. PUSTAU.

A meeting of the creditors was held at Hamburg on the 23rd, and the balance-sheet to December, 1877, was furnished. The solicitor stated that Mr. Pustau was in China, and that he had been authorised to offer payment in full in one year. A long and rather excited debate followed; the solicitor of one of the creditors declared his intention not to have the estate wound up voluntarily, as his client has suffered great losses by negligence of the firm, and will have the members presented by law. The majority of those present resolved upon voluntary liquidation, and intended to nominate administrators, but none of the gentlemen present at the meeting were inclined to accept an election, and it was adjourned for a week. The balance-sheet is as follows:—

THE P. AND O. COMPANY'S REPORT.

To be presented at the Thirty-eighth Annual Meeting, on Dec. 8, 1878.

PROFITS.
The net profits of the year, including 23,801 brought forward from last year amount to £133,625, which, after deducting the interim dividend of 14 per cent, admit of a further dividend of 2½ per cent, which the directors now recommend to be paid; a balance of £8,125 being carried over to next year.

COMPANY'S FLEET.

The fleet consists of forty-four vessels on active service, and seventeen tugs and launches.

Since the last report was issued the Orissa has been sold. This vessel was purchased twenty years ago, and has for some time been inadequate to the present work. The Indus is now receiving new engines and boilers, and will be at work again early next year. The Khedive has left for the Clyde to be re-boilered and overhauled. The new boilers of the Mirapore, Pekin, and Pashawar are in course of construction, and the rest of these vessels will follow each other rapidly. The directors have also recently made contracts with Messrs. Caird and Messrs. Denny for similar work in the case of the Malacca and Bokhara, and the Cathay and Hydrabad. The Kaiser-i-Hind, after a satisfactory trial, in which she attained a speed of upwards of fifteen knots, was despatched to Bombay in September, and her performance at sea has fulfilled the expectations of the board. Since the last report was issued, the board have contracted for two new vessels of 8,800 tons and 800-horse power, which are being built by Messrs. Caird and Co., and now appear in the list of ships at the Armada and Verona.

NEW MAIL CONTRACT.

The directors are happy again to report that the company's fleet has been safely navigated, and been free even from minor accidents. The mail services have been carried on with the usual regularity, and in connection with this subject the directors have the satisfaction of reporting that the Company's tender for a new contract for the India and China mail services has been accepted by Her Majesty's Postmaster-General. This agreement will extend from the close of the present contract for a period of eight years, terminating on Jan. 31, 1888. The most notable difference in the character of the new, as compared with the old contract, will consist in a considerable acceleration in speed and in the discontinuance of the postal service between Southampton, Gibraltar, Malta, and Port Said, as all the mails are in future to be sent via Brindisi. The line between Hongkong and Yokohama is also excluded from the new arrangement, and other minor alterations in the itinerary will at the same time take place. In accordance with the usual practice, this contract will be submitted for the approval of the House of Commons, when the tenders and correspondence will, in all probability, be made public. The directors think it right, therefore, to reserve their further observations on the conditions of the new service until these papers are published. It is expected that tenders will have to be made for a mail service to Australia early next year.

GENERAL OPERATIONS OF THE YEAR.

In their annual report for the year 1878-79 the directors had the pleasure of pointing out that the revenue had advanced about £100,000 beyond that of the year previous; but, unfortunately, in their subsequent half-yearly report, issued in June last, they had to state that the revenue had receded to the same extent, viz., £100,000 in six months, and that the state of trade led them to expect at least an equal falling off during the remainder of the financial year.

As far as the freight receipts are concerned these prognostications have proved too correct, but fortunately certain circumstances, such as the charter-money received from Government for the hire of the Bangalore, have afforded some compensation during the last six months, so that the revenue for the latter half of the financial year has not been diminished to the extent which, judging by the rates of freight, the directors had good reason to expect.

The proprietors will hardly be surprised to see a deficiency of £154,718 in their receipts for the whole year when they are informed that it has often been impossible to load steamers in Bombay at 10s. per ton, and that at one time the rate of freight for heavy cargo fell in Calcutta as low as 6s. per ton. This unprecedented state of things has been brought about mainly by two causes. In the first place the Indian famine, which had given employment in carrying rice to a large number of steamers (apart altogether from the ordinary Suez Canal fleet), came to an end in the early part of the year, and these steamers subsequently competed for homeward freights on the ordinary markets, with the most disastrous result to themselves and also to the regular traders. Secondly, the grain and seed crops in India, which generally employ a considerable amount of tonnage, turned out this year particularly short, which would in itself have had the effect of reducing rates, even if there had been no surplus tonnage on the loading berth. To add to these disadvantages, business was to a certain extent paralysed by the war between Russia and Turkey, and by the prospect of this country having to engage in that contest. The preparations made in India for that eventuality had also an unfavourable influence on the company's passenger receipts, by compelling a large number of officers to abandon their intention of taking leave of absence to come to England. As a climax to these events, the shipments of silver to the East, which afforded the company a considerable portion of their extra revenue in 1876-7, have for some time past been almost to a standstill.

On the other hand, the directors are glad to say that the working expenses show a considerable reduction over and above what had already been attained in that direction, and they trust that it need hardly be pointed out that while they have no influence over the course of trade or the rates of freight, they are doing their utmost to economise expenditure and to carry out a sound policy in administering the resources of the company.

TIGER-SHOOTING ON FOOT.

On Thursday, the 19th September, about midday, two little laddies came up to the Tea House with the story that a tiger had killed a man on the north side of the Assam, and that the tiger did not go off to the jungle but went into a ravine hard by, and was still there. There is one of the Gurkha troops, an old Shikaree, that always goes with me on shooting excursions. He is a plucky active fellow, and can shoot well—he I believe killed several tigers—so for these reasons I thought it as well to have his assistance.

On arriving at the place I found the poor old man who had been clawed sitting propped up, and about two scores of village people jabbering and shouting. All they had done was to tie a dirty rag round his throat, and they did not seem inclined to do anything more. His windpipe was torn, and he was pouring a little water into his mouth it was seen that the gullet was also torn. He had received no other injuries—not even a scratch. After some threatening and the use of some not over polite language, the man was put on a charpoy and sent off to the hospital, and died immediately after reaching. The doctor told me that several of the large deep-seated vessels of the neck were extensively injured.

On asking how the accident occurred, I was told that in following his cattle down to the jungle he had stayed a little behind, and to overtake them had taken a near path—a path in regular use during the dry season, but not used since the beginning of the rains; and pretty well covered up by jungle. On seeing the tiger about to attack him he called out—so the boys said—and tried to push his stick into the animal's mouth, but he struck it away with his paw and seized the man by the throat. The two boys and another gowalla ran up and made a noise; the tiger then left the man, whom they lifted and carried a short distance away. That was the story as nearly as I could make out.

On asking to be shown the place where the man was attacked, they pointed to a large peepul tree, about one hundred yards distant, and also pointed to the part of the ravine the tiger went into, and were quite sure the animal was still there—which statement I very innocently believed. After a little chat with a Shikaree about the best plan for beginning work, it was decided to should first look at the place where the man was struck down. We were chatting in a low tone as we went on with a man carrying the empty rifle a few yards behind, when the Shikaree stopped short and asked me what I was thinking of. Oh! I remarked, the tiger is a quarter of a mile away; did these people not tell us so? "No matter, Sahib, it is dangerous for you to be without the rifle." I took my friend's advice, and as there was a little thick jungle in front, went on cautiously and carefully, and when within about ten yards from the root of the tree, came full in view of the tiger, lying stretched at full length on his left side underneath a few thin branches. The instant he saw me he turned on his belly, in a crouching position, his head between his fore-paws, and gave his tail a twist, from which it was clear that he did not mean to be over civil, and equally clear that my only plan was to try and hit first and hit hard. To my shot he replied with a something between a heavy groan and a low roar, but did not stir a limb. The Shikaree was about four or five yards to my left and a little behind. In an instant he was forward in sight of the animal, and in another instant had two shots into him from the smooth bore at about eight yards distance. By that time I had in another cartridge, and the rifle at the shoulder, feeling a little anxious about what was to be next, and kept in that position for fully three minutes, still the brute never moved; lay as motionless as a block of wood. As one cannot afford to be wasteful of ammunition with only a single barrel, I told a man to take up a big stone and give him a good thump. Still it seemed curious that the brute should be dead without giving even a kick, or even contracting a limb.

In examining him we found that the eye-bullet had entered under the right eye, throwing the eye out of its socket, carrying away the back part of the upper jaw, part of the floor of the side, and a large piece off the extreme base of the skull, all on the right side. The Shikaree's first bullet took both condyles clean off the lower jaw, and his second went into the shoulder.

After attacking the poor gowalla the nasty brute had left the place and then returned when he thought all quiet before the village people gathered round. Still, although there were more than two scores of people talking and shouting within even less than one hundred yards, he was evidently enjoying himself most luxuriously under the shade of the people when he and I met. His lair, which had evidently been used for some time, was barely eighty yards from the jungle pathway where hundreds of cattle pass and repass during the day, also a few people—still I never heard of his killing any cattle nor of any men missing.

On both fore legs from about the middle of the shoulder downwards there were 40 to 60 holes through the skin, of various sizes, from ½ to 1 inch, and less or more circular—it seemed as if he had got a charge of shot on either leg like a mixture of B. B. and pistol bullets. However, these perforations must have been made at least ten days previously, as in all of them new skin had begun to form round the edges. I cannot think how they had been caused. Have you observed anything of the sort?

The tiger was a male, fully 9½ feet in length, beautifully marked, and had a very fine set of teeth, the canines long, sharp, and beautifully clean.

I do not remember anything else worth telling you; you will observe that the Shikaree, if a little exciting, was of short duration. From the time the Shikaree and I set out to look for him till we put three bullets in him could not have exceeded two minutes.—M. BELL, in the Asian.

HOAXING JAPANESE OFFICIALS.

A neat swindle has been perpetrated by a smart Japanese on some of the minor officials of the Ken. A few days ago, the authorities of the Centre for Police Station, Kobe, were waited upon by a gentleman of kucho and kucho from the towns and villages to the east of this, and each produced a summons, duly sealed, requiring his attendance at the Police Office on a certain day. No such document, they were told, had been issued by the authorities, and an examination of the seal showed that the whole thing was a clever swindle. The bogus summons was word for word identical with that ordinarily issued, the only difference being that it was written instead of printed, as is usually the case. As a written document is sometimes sent out under exceptional circumstances, this discrepancy did not excite suspicion in any one case, and a seal was so dexterously imitated that a seal was necessary to detect the fraud. The swindler, as we have said, was evidently well
